Philip Jones joins Lee Evans Planning

Lee Evans Planning is pleased to welcome Philip Jones BSc to the practice. Philip has experience of working in both the public and private sectors having previously been a Planning Officer at Ashford Borough Council prior to joining us.

During this time he has handled a variety of different planning matters, including developments concerning listed buildings, barn conversions, domestic planning issues and change of use applications.

Philip is currently undertaking an Msc in Development Planning on a part-time basis with the aim of becoming a member of the RTPI. He is particularly interested in aspects of planning concerning Urban Design and Sustainability.
