Lee Evans Partnership celebrated another successful year at the Kent Design Awards scooping not only a Special Award for the Best Community Led Project for The Hope Street Centre, Sheerness but also a runner up award in the Sustainable Design and Construction category for The Visitor Centre at Shorne Wood Country Park.

The Kent Design Awards which celebrates excellence in design and construction attracted 49 entries this year and was hosted by Kent County Council at an Oscar-style ceremony at Canterbury Cathedral International Study Centre on Thursday 29 November.

In his keynote address Kent County Council Leader Paul Carter praised the county's architects and said: "There is an enormous number of exciting opportunities going on in the Kent economy which should keep us all busy in the next few years. We are so lucky to have so many able building contractors, good professional design teams and architects' practices producing some 'stunning' designs across the county."
